ABOUT ME

Backed by over 9 years of experience in a variety of real estate markets, I bring a refined, client-focused approach to every transaction. I combine market expertise, strategic guidance, and strong negotiation skills to help sellers achieve exceptional results with confidence.

As the wife of a state trooper and a mother of two, I understand the importance of trust, communication, and protecting what matters most. My clients know they can count on me for honesty, transparency, and steady guidance throughout every step of the selling process. I believe informed clients make confident decisions, which is why I prioritize clear communication and realistic expectations from day one.

My dedication to excellence has earned recognition including the Schuler Bauer Social Media Award, Circle of Honor, and selection into the HKAR Leadership Program.

I believe real estate should be built on relationships just as much as results. I take the time to truly understand my clients' goals, never pressure decisions, and always position myself as a trusted advisor—not a salesperson. My goal is to create a stress-free experience while helping sellers feel confident, supported, and empowered every step of the way.

What Clients Are Saying

Hannah is by far the best Realtor to work with! Not only does she take your privacy seriously, she makes it a point to accomplish all that you ask. She is upfront, honest and committed to working for you and selling your home. The entire staff also answered questions that we had about other properties too. If you are need of a real Realtor, and a company that isnt just about making money but about helping your family, stop and call Hannah now. Thank you so much for all you're hard work! We love you guys!

MATTINGLY FAMILY

Hannah was no doubt the best realtor I have ever worked with, she sold a family home, and it was in a trust with 7 people, and she kept everyone updated and really seemed to care for our best outcome. Something you don't find a lot anymore. There was storm that went thru the lake area and knocked down some trees, and being none of us lived there Hannah had already sent someone out to cut the trees up before we even found out it happened. The real estate firm she works for should be happy they have someone working there of her caliber. So anyone reading this is looking for someone to find or sell their home, look at Nobody but Hannah !!

PUCKETT FAMILY

Hannah is definitely awesome at what she does. She is high octane and high protein. Gets out there and makes it happen kinda person. She sold our house in less than 5 days!!! Simply amazing and would absolutely use her as my agent again. Kept us informed and made the whole process easy. I recommend Hannah to anyone who is thinking of selling or buying a home!!!

Choosing a REALTOR®

Choosing the REALTOR® that you'll be working alongside to sell your home is not a decision to take lightly.

Your agent should have a deep understanding of your goals, your market, and overall be a great match for you and your home.

Credentials, of course, are a plus- but what you can't see behind the numbers are the intangibles of going the extra mile and genuinely caring deeply for clients.

I look forward to the opportunity of earning your business and sharing this life milestone with you and your family.

Pricing Your Home

Here's something that may surprise you...

Properties that are priced right from the beginning typically sell for more in the end.

If you price your home too high, the home will stay on the market longer. The longer a home stays on the market, the less it will be shown.

A property attracts the most interest when it is first listed, so it is crucial to price it correctly initially.

It's important to thoroughly evaluate the market to determine the market value of your home.

AT MARKET VALUE

- + Buyers and agents will recognize a fair price
- + No appraisal issues
- + Home will appear on more relevant buyer searches

BELOW MARKET VALUE

- + The home will receive high interest and a quick sale
- + Multiple offer scenario, which may include offers higher than asking price
- Risk of having to sell at a lower price

OVER MARKET VALUE

- It could take longer to sell
- The longer it's on the market, the less favorable it appears to prospects
- The home may not appraise by the buyer's lender. Back to negotiations!

Pros & Cons of Pricing

02

Prepare for the Market

Consider Home Repairs

Buyers gravitate towards a turnkey home that's ready for them to move in. Overlooking necessary repairs and maintenance can be a major turn-off and potentially stall your sale.

Consider high level repairs and upgrades like decluttering and depersonalizing, adding a fresh coat of paint, pressure washing, or sprucing up the curb appeal.

Putting in the leg work now will not only boost the sale price of your home, it will keep the sales process moving quickly once a buyer shows interest.

Use the checklist provided on the next page and walk through your home, room by room, as if you are a buyer. Keep their perspective in mind as you make decisions on repairs.

Listing Preparation Checklist

Use this checklist to perform a walk through of your home, room by room as if you are a buyer. Check off what needs to be addressed, and then check off once you've completed the task. Consider hiring a home inspector to assess if anything needs to be repaired.

Staged to Sell

Staging goes beyond mere aesthetics. It's about creating an experience that allows buyers to envision their lives unfolding within the walls of your home.

In a market where first impressions are everything, a well-staged home stands out, inviting and compelling.

Data from the International Association of Home Staging Professionals reveals that staged homes not only sell three to 30 times faster than non-staged ones, but they also fetch higher prices – often 20% more than expected.

And the best part? The investment in staging usually costs less than the first price drop you might have to make if your home lingers on the market.

It's a smart, strategic move with proven results.

83%

83% of buyers' agents said that staging a home made it easier for buyers to visualize the property as their future home.

Media Day

What's the big deal about listing photos & videos?

In today's market, home buyers are searching online first. The photos of your home directly influence whether or not a potential buyer will schedule a showing of your home or not. It is crucial that we take high quality, attractive photos and videos showcasing the best qualities and features of your home to make your listing stand out from the competition.

Because of this, I work with the top real estate photographers and videographers in the area to capture your home in the very best light at no cost to you.

Elevated Marketing Strategy

Insta-Showcases

Your home's story deserves to be told. Through captivating Instagram posts, I highlight unique features and offer behind-the-scenes tours, creating a personal connection with potential buyers.

SEO Driven Strategies

Behind the scenes, I employ SEO strategies to boost your listing's online presence, ensuring it ranks highly on search engines and reaches potential buyers before they even know they're looking.

Strategic Visual Marketing

Every photo, video, and piece of marketing content is intentionally designed to maximize visibility and capture attention. By combining elevated visuals with compelling storytelling, I position your home to stand out in a competitive market and leave a lasting impression on buyers.

Cinematic Property Tours

Professional cinematic video tours bring your home to life in a way static images simply cannot. These high-quality visual experiences allow buyers to emotionally connect with your property before ever stepping through the door.

My seller was in the process of moving and the boxes made the room look cluttered. My photographer photoshopped this photo to show the size of the room better.

Showing Your Home

It's showing time! Together we'll set parameters on the hours and days we plan to host showings.

Homes show best when the homeowner is not present. If this is not possible, we will work together to create the best experience for the buyer that also fits your lifestyle.

I will provide you with an electronic lockbox to store a set of house keys. Any time this lockbox is opened, I am notified. That means no one is accessing your home without my knowledge.

After each showing I will share any feedback I received from the potential buyers.

Before each showing, follow the checklist on the next page to create the best atmosphere possible for potential buyers.

It's Showing Time!

Flexible

Be as flexible and accommodating to the buyers schedule as possible. We want to avoid having any missed opportunities.

Informed

Make sure everyone in the home is informed when showings are scheduled to ensure personal spaces are clean.

Daily Cleaning

Keep up with daily tasks of upkeep. Wipe down kitchen and bathroom counters before leaving for the day. Create a catch all basket to hide.

Odors

Avoid strong smells in the home if possible.

Personals

Make sure you place all valuables, firearms and prescriptions out of sight and in a safe place.

Furry Friends

Keep pet areas clean. Clean up after your pets immediately and wash their bedding regularly. Hide pet food or litter if possible.

Natural Light

Open blinds and curtains and let in as much natural light as possible. Leave lights on before you leave for a showing.

Temperature

Keep the room temperature comfortable. This demonstrates to buyers that the HVAC is working properly.

Trash

Empty trash cans to avoid any odors.

Vacate

Having a seller present can make buyers feel awkward. We want to make the buyers feel at home and stay a while.

Showing Prep Checklist

- Create a welcoming entrance by sweeping the porch, cleaning the door, and adding a mat or wreath.
- Remove personal items, documents, excess furniture, and clutter to create an inviting atmosphere.
- Ensure there are no unpleasant odors; however don't overdo it with air fresheners. Open the windows for fresh air ahead of time.
- Turn on lights and open curtains to invite natural light.
- Close toilet seats and shower curtains. Put out fresh, crisp linens.
- Arrange furniture to create a sense of space and flow in each room.
- Arrange for pets to be taken out of the house during showings, and tidy up any pet-related messes.
- Add fresh flowers or a bowl of fruit to add a welcoming touch.
- Use staging strategies to showcase your home's best features.
- Set the thermostat to a comfortable temperature well before guests arrive.

The Closing Process

This process begins once we accept an offer on the home. Here are the major milestones to expect:

Escrow: The buyer typically places an earnest money deposit into an escrow account as a sign of good faith until the transaction is completed. If the buyer backs out of the sale for a reason not specified in the contract, the seller is typically entitled to keep the escrow money.

Contingencies: A contingency is when there's something that the buyer or seller needs to do for the transaction to go forward. The buyer conducts inspections, appraisals, and any other necessary investigations to ensure the property's condition and value align with their expectations.

Loan Approval and Appraisal: The buyer's lender evaluates the property's value to determine if the buyer qualifies for a mortgage. An appraisal ensures the property's value matches or exceeds the agreed-upon purchase price. Depending on the contract, meeting these approvals may be contingencies of the sale.

Final Walkthrough: Just before closing, the buyer usually conducts a final walkthrough to ensure the property is in the agreed-upon condition.

Closing Day: The buyer signs the mortgage documents, pays closing costs, receives keys and takes possession of the property. You receive the proceeds from the sale.

Why Offering Buyer Agent Compensation is a Smart Move

Expands your property's visibility

Offering a commission makes your listing more appealing to buyers, leading to increased showings and opportunities for offers.

Encourages smooth transactions

Offering compensation fosters cooperation between agents, leading to smoother negotiations and a more efficient sale process.

Positively impacts sale outcomes

Properties offering agent compensation often sell quicker and at better prices due to heightened exposure and agent motivation.

Signals a professional approach

This strategy demonstrates a commitment to a fair and efficient selling process, setting a positive tone for the transaction.

Dear Valued Client,

As your dedicated real estate agent, I am committed to providing you with the best possible service and assistance throughout your home buying or selling journey. While I am very flexible and always here to address your questions and concerns, I kindly ask for your understanding and respect for my time. Please refrain from contacting me at all hours of the night. Your cooperation in limiting communication to reasonable times ensures that I can effectively manage my commitments to all clients and provide the highest level of service to each of you.

I understand that I might need to work into the evening to accommodate clients who work during the day. This could involve showing properties after regular business hours or attending events such as open houses or networking gatherings. Weekends are prime time for property viewings since many clients are off work and have more time to dedicate to house hunting. It's essential that I prioritize my own well-being and work-life balance. Building in time for breaks, relaxation, and time with family and friends is crucial for long-term success in this industry.

Thank you for your understanding and continued support.

If you do not work normal business hours, I will be flexible to accomodate your time.

Phone Call/Text hours

Monday - Friday:

9:00am - 6:00pm CST

Saturday & Sunday:

Expect a delayed response time as I am either showing houses or enjoying time with my family.

Next Steps

- ✓ Sign listing agreement and property disclosures
- ✓ Determine list price
- ✓ Photographer and videographer come out for shoot

Real estate is more than a career to me, it has been my passion for the past eight years. Getting to help people with the sale of their home is such an honor and a pleasure for me.

Thank you!

Thank you for trusting me with the sale of your property. I am honored to represent you and guide you through the process. My goal is to ensure that you are comfortable every step of the way.
